Howland Wood, Esq.
93 Perry St.,
Brookline, Mass.

Dear Sir:

Your kind letter of July 26th arrived safely, and thoroughly noted. I will show it, as well as your letter of yesterday, both of which found a warm spot in my heart, to Mr. Higgins, who is lunching with me today, prior to our attending Mr. Lows' Sale, and undoubtedly you will receive a letter from him in the same christian spirit as yours is written in.

I, myself, want very much to have a talk with you, and it is possible that I may run on to Boston, specially for that object, even if I only stay one day. I believe myself, that the "Secretary has not always been in possession of the absolute truth", but if you will look over any letters I may have written you, and can find one deviation of mine from the absolute truth, I shall be very glad to make a present to Howland Wood of the first rare Oriental Coin I possess that is not already in his large and extensive collection.

I have documents galore which I wish you could see, but I am not willing to trust even copies of them to the mails, and so must wait till you can look at it yourself.

It is barely possible that Mr. Higgins may run over with me, for he understands the situation perhaps even better than I do myself. When Mr. Higgins first came to my notice, he was as staunch a friend of a certain person as that certain person ever had, but being a man of perception, discrimination and education, he has so turned against him for the things he has done that I fear a personal encounter whenever they are unlucky enough to meet, and yet, the person mentioned has in no way injured him, but Mr. Higgins's sense of honor and knowledge of what should constitute a gentleman is so keen, that he will not permit himself to associate with any such person.

Trusting that this will in a measure clear away any cobwebs that may be around the subject, and assuring you that you will be as much surprised when you hear the whole story as you ever have been in your life, I am, with every assurance of friendship,

Sincerely yours,

Geoffrey Charlton Adams
